

Florida Probes Into Whipping Of Convicts

Charge Foreman Lashed Youth, In Lumber Camp, Until He Died

MANY TELL OF BRUTALITY

"Simon Legree" Rode On White Horse And Tortured Prisoners

Associated Press
Madison, Fla.—Investigation into the death of Martin Tabert, North Dakota youth while serving a sentence in a convict labor camp fourteen months ago, was started Wednesday by the Madison-co grand jury.

Walter Higginbotham, alleged boss of the convict camp of the Putnam Lumber Co. where Tabert was confined and located at Clara, Fla., is in jail here awaiting the outcome of the investigation. Higginbotham is charged with murder growing out of the death of the North Dakotan, the state contending that it produced death.

SAY PNEUMONIA KILLED

It also charged that Tabert was a victim of malaria and other complications when he was given the lash. Higginbotham, through his attorney has admitted the flogging but contends that only a few light blows were given the youth and that death was due to pneumonia, according to the report of the physicians.

The state had assembled Wednesday more than a score of witnesses. "All of the activities at the camp pertaining to brutalities of prisoners are true," declared A. E. Shivers, of Doa Run, Ga., a former guard, while waiting to testify.

GUARD TALKS

He declared that Higginbotham rode around the camp astride a white horse with a whip weighing about 7 and a half pounds hanging from the pommel of the saddle. No man he said, prisoner or guard, could survive the malaria. If he remained on the job, he said he quit his job as a guard because of his health.

J. V. Jackson, another guard, asserted he prepared to tell a story of how he made ready the body of Tabert for burial. He said the body was almost a solid mass of sores while deep welts stood out on the back of Tabert which he said were caused by a heavy lash.

Jackson said that at least ten men were whipped at one time in the afternoon and at night among them being Tabert. Tabert, he asserted, was whipped severely.

SAW WHIPPING

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lykes are on the list of witnesses. They said they were in the vicinity of the prison camp on one occasion on a fishing trip and declared 35 blows were given a prisoner.

Glen Thompson, asserted that the North Dakota youth died as the result of a whipping given him by Higginbotham.

Tom Wiggins, a former Negro convict, arrived from his home in Tallapoosa, Ga., as one of the witnesses. Wiggins declared that he helped prepare the body of Tabert for burial and that shroud used was the clothing of a negro convict who had escaped the previous night.

INDICT CONVICT BOSS

MacClenny, Fla.—John Roddenbury, convict gang boss at the Baker-co turpentine camp of State Senator T. J. Knabb, was indicted last Tuesday by the Baker-co grand jury on charges made by Paul Revere White, 17, Washington, D. C. youth, who maintained he was flogged unmercifully as often as twice a day while serving sentence at the camp for vagrancy. He was leased to Senator Knabb by the county.

COOPERATION OF SYNODS PLANNED

Two Lutheran Gatherings Here Confer On Ways Of Working Together

A committee was appointed Tuesday afternoon from the Oshkosh conference of the Wisconsin district of the Evangelical Lutheran church in session at First English Lutheran church, to confer with one from the Fox and Wolf Rivers synodical conference of the Lutheran church in session at Mt. Olive Lutheran church to confer on the possibility of closer cooperation between Lutheran synodical bodies.

At the afternoon business session at First English Lutheran church the members voted to complete the million dollar offering which is to be used for educational purposes by the Lutheran schools. It was also voted to enlarge the dormitory at St. Paul seminary.

"God's Message at the Burning Bush" was the subject the Rev. Edward Kuhlmann of Oshkosh talked on at the confessional service at 4 o'clock.

Evening services were held at 7:45 and the Rev. L. Wagner of Caroline talked on "The Profitableness of Godliness." Business matters were completed at the session Wednesday morning and the conference closed in the afternoon.

Ancient Document Reveals Romance Of Tut's Widow

Luxor, Egypt—An ancient Hittite document, recently unearthed in Anatolia, discloses an amazing royal romance in which Queen Ankhameni was one of the principals. It also appears that the queen was banished by Tutankhamun's successor, the Pharaoh Ay.

This remarkable document has been translated by Professor Archibald H. Sayce, one of the leading Babylonian and Egyptian scholars of great Britain. It reveals the extraordinary fact that while King Tutankhamun's body lay in his 27 year old wife dispatched her ambassador to the king of the Hittites who was then besieging the ancient city of Carchemish between Mosul and Damascus, to induce the king to give her one of his sons in marriage.

"My husband is dead," said the Egyptian queen to the ruler through her ambassador. "I have no children; your sons are said to be grown up. If you will give me one of them, and if he will be my husband, he will be a great helpmate."

The king of the Hittites apparently doubted the motives and good faith of the Egyptian queen. He replied to her overtures:

"The son of your lord (the king) where is he? Have you deceived me? The general of the army (Horemhebe) has not nominated my son to the kingship."

"The Queen thereupon rejoiced: 'What is this you say? I have deceived you? If I had a son and my people had a ruler, I would not have sought the hand of a man from another country. No one has had children by me. I have no son. Give me one of your sons as my husband and he shall be king of the land of Egypt.'"

The document shows that the royal romance was almost completed by the king of the Hittites, giving the fair suitor one of his sons; but just as the marriage was about to be celebrated King Ay seized the throne of Egypt, and the helpless Queen was banished.

RIPARIANS TO ASK FOR SURVEY OF DUCK CREEK

Committee On Flood Prevention Named At Massmeeting

At Shiocton

Shiocton—Approximately 100 persons attended a meeting here Tuesday to devise some means of controlling the floods of the Wolf river.

The result was the appointment of a committee of three consisting of Mr. Knappstein, New London, George J. Riehl, Black Creek, and F. H. Colburn, Shiocton, to prepare and circulate petitions asking the government to appropriate money for a survey of Duck Creek cutoff.

Diverting the water through the cutoff and thus into Green Bay, it is believed, would prevent thousands of dollars of damage caused by floods each year and would also redeem thousands of acres of land which are now practically without value.

Those from other places present at the meeting were: E. C. Rose, William Bellack, H. W. Leatherbury and George J. Riehl, Black Creek; M. Knappstein, O. Day and Sheldon Bradt, New London; Orville Jenkins, Seymour.

LYNCH DEATH IS BLOW

Dublin—The death of Liam Lynch, who succumbed Friday evening to wounds received when he was captured by Free State forces near New Castle Tuesday morning, will be a serious blow to the irregulars it is believed. Lynch, as chief of staff of the Republican army was the man most intimately associated with Eamon De Valera.

London—Eamon De Valera, the Republican leader has been captured, according to a Central News dispatch.

The Central News message received from Dublin says Dan Breen also was taken prisoner, the two men being captured at Clonmel Wednesday morning.

WILL CHANGE LEGISLATION

This return to a normal condition of business in Wisconsin has had a marked effect upon pending tax legislation, according to Speaker John T. Ball and Senator H. J. Severson, authors of two general revenue measures.

They both declare that their proposals were drafted on the basis of 1921 corporation and individual earnings, before the tax commission was in possession of information showing the improved business condition. Both bills are being redrafted on the basis of the additional information now at the command of the tax commission, their authors say.

76, But He's Buck'n Wing Champ Of South

New Orleans—"Tiger Billy" Dark 76, has lost a few of his 22 children in charge of his big plantation in Winn parish, La., and come to New Orleans to defend his title of champion buck and wing dancer against any Confederate veteran who may feel spry enough to challenge him.

"Tuesday discovered a blind man playing a violin. Quicker than it could be told the old veteran proceeded to 'do his stuff' to the strains of the fiddle and after a crowd had gathered took the musician's tin cup and passed it around. He spent half an hour dancing and taking up collections and the crowd remarked, 'Just warming up.'"

"Tiger Billy" says he danced before President Wilson and foreign diplomats at the 1917 gathering in Washington.

WORLD COURT WILL BE ISSUE OF BOTH CAMPS

Britain's Six Votes Will Not Overwhelm U. S., Say Proponents

By David Lawrence
Copyright 1923 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Official assurance was given today that those who have been worrying about "Britain's six votes to America's one" in choosing judges for the world court were unnecessarily disturbed.

The government feels that the United States is sufficiently protected against any supposed inequality in voting and the following explanation is given on that point: "Nomination for judges are submitted to the council as well as to the assembly of the League of Nations. The United States has one vote on the council and the entire British empire has only one. In order for a nomination to be ratified by the council, it must have a majority vote of that body. Without the concurrence of the council, elections made by the assembly are ineffective. It is true that in the assembly, the British dominions each have one vote and if the Irish Free State is given membership, as seems likely, the British dominions would have seven votes to one of the United States. But with 45 to 50 votes being cast in the assembly, no single group of six or seven votes could have any more influence in persuading others to elect a certain candidate for 'judge' than would the United States with one actual vote but with potential influence in Central and South America, where most of its votes are much more likely to follow the lead of the United States than a European power. Mexico, the Dominican Republic and Haiti are not represented in the League of Nations.

If the Harding administration should succeed in convincing the American people that the six to one argument is pointless, it would help the proponents of the covenant of the league in waging their battle too.

There is some talk that the Democrats will endeavor to force the covenant to the fore again as a trending point in the senate, urging that the Republicans should support a modified covenant if they want Democratic help in putting their world court protocol through. At this stage of the proceedings this is purely speculative for the Democrats themselves have not really discussed the League of Nations in any party conference since the campaign of 1920 and the probabilities are that they will go along with the Republicans on the world court proposal irrespective of whether there is a reciprocal support for a revised league or association of nations.

STATE EXPECTS 5 MILLION FROM 1922 EARNINGS

Wisconsin Corporations Enjoyed Normal Year, Declares Tax Expert

By Associated Press
Madison—The earnings of Wisconsin corporations during the year 1922, were practically normal, indicating that the state income tax would yield a much larger amount this year than on 1921 incomes according to Carroll Atwood, tax commissioner. Early returns, he said, showed that improved business conditions prevailed in this state during the last year.

A report of the tax commission shows that on 1921 earnings the total income tax collected amounted to approximately $3,000,000. This is less than half of the total collected on 1920 incomes, after the personal property offset had been allowed, judging by the commission report.

Mr. Atwood declared that the corporation earnings already returned to the commission show that the total collection tax on 1922 incomes will probably be around $5,000,000. This will include individual as well as corporation income tax. He pointed out that the individual earnings showed but little slump during the period of depression.

According to Commissioner Atwood, the amount of back taxes that can be collected by the tax commission during the coming year will be much less than in the past.

"Our auditors in the field have hit the high spots and cannot be expected to uncover the same large amount of unreported income," he said. "From now on the investigations will bring smaller returns because of the back audit during the war period."

BRITISH CABINET REFUSES TO FALL

Bonar Law Rule Defeated On Technical Question But Will Take Up Matter Again

London—The government is believed to have found a way out of the difficult situation created in the house of commons Tuesday evening when it was defeated on the technical question of allowing the speaker to leave the chair for a discussion of civil service estimates.

The cabinet, meeting until a late hour after the adverse decision is said to have decided that the motion may again be submitted in view of the fact that as presented it contained the word "know," thus, the ministers held the negative vote was binding only at the Tuesday evening sitting, and therefore the speaker, perhaps on Thursday will be in a position to accept another motion to quit the chair.

The adverse majority of seven was returned in a sparsely attended session. Ordinarily, such a motion is carried on a motion of no confidence and when it failed there was considerable excitement because of the uncertain position of the government.

The vote came after a question of the salaries paid to former "service men" now in the civil service had been raised.

EXTRA FIRST CHINESE SQUADRON REVOLTS

Shanghai—In a manifesto issued to the first squadron of the Chinese navy stationed here and consisting of one cruiser and four gunboats, it declared its independence of the Peking government and called on the entire navy to join the revolt.

This means that the first squadron has aligned itself with the anti-Peking forces headed by Sun Yat-Sen.

Senate Votes Death To Board Of Education

BLAINE FORCE WINS IN MOVE TO CONTROL 'U'

Bill, Increasing Size Of Board Of Regents, Is Engrossed In House

By Associated Press
Madison—The Wisconsin senate Wednesday by a vote of 17 to 14, engrossed the Severson bill increasing the size of the University of Wisconsin board of regents to give farmer-labor representation. By this action, the senate favored immediate control of the board by the state administration. The measure must finally pass the upper house and go through the assembly before reaching the governor.

The action came after bills to provide farmer-labor membership on the university board had been buffeted around in the senate throughout the session on this particular measure. Four calls of the house have been held one of them keeping the senators in their chamber until past midnight.

NO DEBATE

There was no debate preceding the action. An attempt to amend the original bill by removing the clause calling for representation of farmers and laborers, was killed 16 to 13.

Those opposing the Severson bill asserted that its passage is sought by administration members of the legislature to give progressives control of the bureau of regents which they otherwise could not obtain for another year. With a majority on the board legislators say the LaFollette forces might undertake a shakeup in university affairs.

VOTE ON BILL

Voted on the bill follows:
For engrossment—Barker, Bilgrien, Cashman, Casperson, Gandy, Heck, Hirsch, Huber, Johnson, Kemp, Polakowski, Quick, Schuman, Severson, Staudenmayer, Teasdale, Titus—17.
Against engrossment—Bonney, Burke, Clark, Czarnowski, Gettelman, Kueckuk Lange, Morris, Ridgway, Roethe, Smith, Skogmo, Worden and White—14.

SCOUTS CONSIDER CAMP IN DOOR-CO

Plans for summer activities were considered Tuesday evening at a meeting of scoutmasters and their assistants of the troop of the Fox River valley. The meeting was held at the box scout headquarters here.

It was decided to appoint a committee to investigate camping conditions in Door-co with a view of planning a three weeks' camping trip if the situation proves favorable. A river trip was also suggested but definite plans were not made.

It was planned to have a scout rally May 25 which will include all troops in the valley. A birdhouse contest will be conducted again this spring with prizes going to the troop making the best houses.

A training class for scoutmasters will open Thursday evening, April 19, and will meet on that evening for eight or ten weeks. All boys who wish to receive training for scoutmasters will be admitted to the class.

WIFE GETS $1,000,000 SETTLEMENT FROM FIELD

By Associated Press
Chicago—Mrs. Sarah Carroll Brown Field, divorced wife of Stanley Field, nephew of the late Marshall Field and one of the heirs of his estate, received a cash settlement of $1,000,000 when her husband divorced her last month, according to a story printed by the Chicago Herald and Examiner Wednesday.

Mrs. Field was one of the "Brown sisters" of Baltimore prior to her marriage. Mr. Field charged her with desertion and the suit was uncontested.

Carload Of Hairpins

Scolding Locks Hairpin Co. Ships 25,000,000 Hairpins to New York and New England Jobbers in Single Shipment—Reach From New York to Racine.

A full carload of hairpins—25,000,000 of them—weighing 40,000 pounds was shipped on Tuesday from the plant of the Scolding Locks Hairpin Co., Rogers-ave. to New York city, for distribution to jobbers of New York and New England states. This probably is the largest single shipment of hairpins ever made.

Shipment of a carload of the pins is something new in the railroad industry. The Scolding Locks Hairpin Co. has requested the railroad companies to establish a carload rate for hairpins. Heretofore there has been no carload rate for this commodity.

If the hairpins in this shipment were placed end to end they would extend over 5,200,300 feet or 983 miles.

The distance from New York to Chicago and then to Racine, nearly 2,000 miles of wire was used in their construction.

In spite of this huge production there is little danger of glutting the hairpin market. According to statistics, there are 34,000,000 women in the United States using hairpins and this shipment is not sufficient to give each one of these women one hairpin a day.

The Scolding Locks Hairpin Co., a new concern, is increasing its production enormously. Nine hairpin machines now are in constant operation. Its market is spreading. A new building recently was erected by the company. The company is owned and controlled by Appleton capital.

Dempsey Is Coal Baron; Quits Ring?

By Associated Press
Salt Lake City, Utah—Jack Dempsey may never fight again.

Jack Kearns, the champion's manager made this announcement Tuesday night after Dempsey had been elected president of the Great Western Coal Mines Company of which he is said to own the controlling interest.

"This proposition is so big," Kearns said in detailing the plans for the development of the Dempsey coal mines, "that he is thinking of retiring and devoting his entire energy to making this enterprise his life's work in the future."

"If Dempsey does fight again," Kearns said he will train at Dempsey City, Utah, a town being built at the base of the Dempsey mines. Kearns is secretary and treasurer of the coal company.

The company owns 2,000 acres of coal lands and 6,000 acres of agricultural land in Castle Valley, including the town site. It also has a three and a half mile railroad and is building three more.

President Dempsey announced he was going back to an old love in returning to the coal mining business. In his early days he worked as a miner.

Girl's Smile Converts Gang Into Bible Class

New York—"The Houston Street Gang," the band of youthful warriors which for years has had other east side gangs begging for mercy has formed an "In a Gentleman Club" and along with it what Salvation army officers Wednesday described as the most rough and tumble bible class in the world. The reason, according to army headquarters is Miss Elizabeth Justice, attracted to the Bowery troops, who took a hand in the making of Houston-st. history only a month ago.

Miss Justice declared that if the gang was to be reformed it would not be through any patronizing program of "boys' work." That solution effort had been made many times in the past and failed.

No Miss Justice just went down into the Bowery and made friends. Her broad smile and nun-to-man way of talk made a hit with the "bunch."

Having decided to go in for ethics and religion, the "gang" proved militant crusaders, eager to point the golden rule into the hides of their traditional enemies. Miss Justice admits that it may take many weeks before she can teach her charges to turn the other cheek.

Admission to the weekly meetings is obtained by password "I'm a Gentleman." If a newcomer refuses to be orderly a monitor kicks him into submission. If he fails to doff his cap on entering the hall it is knocked off for him. If he opens his mouth during a lecture reading he does it only once.

By Associated Press
Minneapolis—A gift of $250,000 from Mrs. George Chase Christian, Minneapolis, which to establish a cancer institute as part of the hospital at the University of Minnesota for the investigation and treatment of cancer, was announced Wednesday by President L. D. Coffman.

The gift was made in the name of the Citizen's Aid society of which Mrs. Christian is president. The hospital will be a memorial to George Chase Christian, Minneapolis business man who died about two years ago.

FIFTH WHEEL IN STATE PLAN, CHARGE SOLONS

Measure, Supported By Governor, Faces House Next Week

By Associated Press
Madison—Abolition of the Wisconsin State Board of Education was voted by the senate Wednesday, 22 to 9, with the passage of the Garey bill, endorsed by the governor. The measure now goes to the assembly.

Attack was declared on the state board of education as a "Fifth wheel" of the state's educational system. Senators Roethe, Huber and Ridgway supported the governor, in his expression that the board performed no useful function in the administration of the Wisconsin supreme court affairs and urged passage of the abolition bill.

DEFENDS BOARD

Senator Casperson defended the board pointing out how its efforts had saved the state thousands of dollars annually. He declared that before the finance committee the board disclosed an effort at alleged misrepresentation of the number of teachers at the Oshkosh Normal school, with a resultant saving to the state.

Sensors Cashman, Quick and Worden joined in the defense of the board from the floor.

HOW THEY VOTED

The roll call on the Garey bill follows:
For the abolition of the bill—Barker, Bonney, Bilgrien, Clark, Gandy, Gettelman, Heck, Hirsch, Huber, Johnson, Kemp, Kueckuk, Lange, Ridgway, Roethe, Schumann, Skogmo, Smith, Staudenmayer, Teasdale, Titus and White—22.

RUMOR STARTS RUN ON $2,000,000 BANK

Chicago Financiers Call For Police Protection—Institution Sound

By Associated Press
Chicago—Officials of the West Side National bank called for police protection when a crowd of depositors gathered and threatened a run on the institution, according to the police.

"The institution has deposits of nearly $2,000,000."

The trouble started, according to President Thomas Italy when some one put a sign on the closed Sixteenth Street bank building that "depositors may draw their money by applying at the West Side National bank."

The false news quickly spread and the depositors of the closed bank gathered converging on the West Side National bank.

West Side bank officials explained to the anxious crowd that news they had received was without foundation. The assurances of the officials served to check any demonstration, materially. It was said.

President Dempsey announced he was going back to an old love in returning to the coal mining business. In his early days he worked as a miner.

MAYOR URGES AUTO TAX LAW REVISION

Theodore Berz, city attorney, has gone to Madison to represent the city of Appleton in the city's protest against a feature of the highway commission's automobile and gasoline tax bill.

Mayor Henry Reiter objects to the provision of the bill that cuts off the cities from any benefit to be derived from the proposed gasoline tax for automobiles. The mayor argues that if a tax is imposed upon automobile gasoline, a part of that tax should go to the cities which bear the expense of keeping up the streets that local and touring automobilists wear down.

Realize Its Ambition—
Want $350,000

A subscription of $25,000 by Judson G. Rosebush, Appleton, gave Green Bay a big start in its campaign to raise $350,000 for a Y. M. C. A. building. Mr. Rosebush's gift was announced at the initial meeting of the campaign on Monday evening. Subscriptions reported that evening aggregated $106,645. Up until noon on Tuesday the total had been increased to $202,400, leaving about $145,000 still to be raised.

Eight contributors gave $100,000 of the first $100,000. These contributors and the amounts are:

Judson Rosebush, $25,000; Jeanette Brothers Co., $5,000; Herman Gessling, $10,000; J. H. Fowler, $10,000; Estate of William Jensen, $15,000; Frank E. Murphy, $25,000; Mrs. Agnes Jorgensen, $25,000; Mitchell Jeanes and family, $50,000.

One of the chief speakers Monday evening was Mr. Rosebush who described Appleton's experience with its Y. M. C. A. building. Mr. Rosebush is general manager of the Northern Paper Mills in Green Bay.

Mr. Rosebush pointed out that a Y. M. C. A. is six things. First, he said it is an athletic club, with its gymnasiums, bowling alleys and hand ball courts, running tracks and equipment. It is an athletic club for those who wish training in this direction. Second it is a hotel, the Y. M. C. A. in Appleton has 70 rooms that may be rented at moderate rates by those who come to the city from other places. The demand for these rooms is indicated by the fact that Appleton is now making preparations to add 15 more rooms.

IT IS A CIVIC CENTER.
It is a vocational school and is more and more each year increasing its work in this direction, through the United Y. M. C. A. schools. It is a Bible institute for those who wish training in this direction. The Bible classes and there for the boy who wishes this part of the gymnasium and other classes are there for the boys who wish the other things.

It is a civic center, during the past year more than 50 different civic organizations used the Y. M. C. A. rooms in Appleton for meetings.

Sixth, and last, it is the only League of Nations which the United States is a part. It is international. Y. M. C. A. buildings are to be found all over the world. Just as an indication of this, there are now 70 native Y. M. C. A. secretaries in Japan, there are "Y" buildings all over Europe and a number in the Latin-American countries.

In addition to these things the experience of Appleton has shown that there are three collateral activities that come through the establishment of a Y. M. C. A. in any community that are beyond what is looked for. First it makes a united community. When the Appleton association started out 8 years ago to raise $50,000 for a "Y" they were advised by the bankers that it was impossible, but that it might be done if one or more individuals were to subscribe half of the sum before the drive started. This was done and in six days the amount wanted was raised. And in the years that followed Appleton has found that the city has strength unknown before.

BUILD BETTER MEN

Better manhood was expected, but has come in a degree that makes the men of Appleton proud of the boys who are being developed as day after day, year after year they spend their time in the influence of the Y. M. C. A. Third, the Y is a community peace-maker. Since the establishment of the "Y" Appleton has been able to raise, for example, $50,000 for the nine associated colleges, including every religious denomination. And in addition the city has recently raised $400,000 for St. Elizabeth's hospital in a drive that enlisted the aid of every faction, division, or religious denomination of the city in a united effort.

To Close Offices

At their luncheon at Conway hotel Monday noon members of Outagamie County Bar association decided to close their offices Saturday afternoons from May 1 until Nov. 1.

MAJESTIC: BATTLE SCENES IN FOX SPECTACLE

"QUEEN OF SHEBA"

Next to the thrilling chariot race between Sheba and Vashti, which has aroused so much enthusiasm at the Elite Theatre, perhaps the most spectacular scene in the mammoth William Fox spectacle, "Queen of Sheba," is the great battle between the armies of Solomon and his brother Adonijah.

with Sheba's army coming up at the crucial moment to save the day.

When it is considered that over six thousand men are engaged and the greater part of the fighting takes place on and around the massive Tower of David—which, built for the production, has to bear the weight of many hundreds of armored men rushing to and fro—the magnitude of the task of J. Gordon Edwards, the director, may be realized.

Miss Betty Blythe, the Sheba of the picture, brought with her to New York a fund of stories of incidents that occurred during the making of the film on the west coast, and it was the battle scenes that left the most vivid impression on her mind.

Valley's Oldest Locktender Dies

John M. Paige Served Boats At DePere Look For 47
Years

The oldest locktender in point of service in the Fox River valley, John M. Paige, died at his home in DePere at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening from a complication of diseases as the result of sciatic rheumatism. Mr. Paige had served the government as a locktender at DePere for 47 years having taken his position there in 1877. He was 64 years old. He is survived by his widow.

Announcement of the funeral services will be made later. It is expected that many of the locktenders and bridgetenders on the river as well as many of the boatmen will attend the funeral.

BEG PARDON

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Geigel were married in St. Joseph church Tuesday and not in the parsonage.

The salary of the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of Mount Olive Evangelical Lutheran church, was raised to $2,400 a year by the congregation Sunday. A previous article stated that it had been raised $200 a year.

J. H. Shasky, 1516 Spencer-st., left Wednesday for a few days' trip to Sparta.

INGROWN TOE NAIL

How to Toughen Skin so Nail Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe-nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

Now a QUICK
Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

When the Man Wants breakfast in a hurry

Your grocer now has Quick Quaker Oats, perfected by our experts. It is the quickest-cooking oats in the world. It is perfectly cooked in from 3 to 5 minutes—long before the coffee. An hour could not cook them better.

If you want quick breakfasts, get Quick Quaker for them.

No different flavor

Quick Quaker tastes exactly like regular Quaker Oats. Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, luscious oats. All the puny and flavorless grains are discarded.

We get but ten pounds of such flakes from a bushel. But their super-flavor has made this brand the favorite oat dish the world over.

In Quick Quaker the grains are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Quick Quaker, therefore, is ready in five minutes.

Get the style you prefer—Quick Quaker or regular. But insist, for your own sake, on the Quaker brand.

You want children to love oats. It is for them the greatest food that grows. Each pound yields 1810 calories of nutriment—twice as much as meat.

And here also is quick cooking, if you wish.

HEALTH OF CITY AT HIGH AVERAGE

Contagion Reduced To Three Cases—Deaths Number 36, Births 53

This is the time when, according to the almanac, there should be much sickness; yet the city of Appleton is in a rather good way as far as being quite free from contagious diseases goes. The only cases of contagious diseases in the city at present are one case of diphtheria, one case of scarlet fever and one case of whooping cough, according to the March report of Dr. W. C. Felton, health officer.

The month of March recorded but few contagious diseases. There were during the month 10 cases of diphtheria, 2 cases of scarlet fever, 1 case of whooping cough and 1 case of measles.

A high birth record is shown for the month, for there were 53 children born. This was offset by 36 deaths. Marriages dropped off during the month, as only two couples took the vow in the city.

Dr. Felton made 19 calls at the city home and received 19 calls at the office as city physician. He issued 21 burial permits. Thirty-five calls were necessary to take culture in seven diphtheria cases that were released.

The causes of death in the past month were as follows: Typhoid, 1; acute nephritis, 1; heart disease, 6; premature birth, 3; pneumonia, 13; acute gastritis, 1; tumor, 2; cancer, 1; senility, 1; erysipelas, 1; miscellaneous, 3.

In the month's report of George Merkel, deputy health officer, quarantine of 16 homes is mentioned. Twelve homes were placarded for diseases. He fumigated 18 homes and released 3 cases of quarantine. He made 5 sanitary inspections and 3 food inspections, and tested 8 samples of milk and 3 samples of cream. The number of cubic feet of fumigation made is 66,000.

ARRANGING PROGRAM FOR C. OF C. MEN'S MEETING

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, is making arrangements for the program of the conference of Wisconsin commercial associations, which will take place at Keshioun, June 11 and 12. Mr. Corbett is the chairman of the program committee. He has written to secretaries in all the cities in Wisconsin asking that they make their wants for the program known. He is receiving answers from many of them.

CONFUSE 2 KINDS OF MAIL SAFETY

Zuehlke Explains Difference Between Insurance And Registry

Postal patrons often insure mail when their real purpose is to register it. On the other hand they will register it when their purpose is to secure indemnity by insurance, in case the mail is lost or damaged.

The difference is made plain by Postmaster William H. Zuehlke for the benefit of the patrons. Registering of mail provides for protection rather than mere indemnity, while insuring of mail guarantees indemnity rather than protection.

Insured mail receives indemnity in case of loss, but without getting the special safeguards that registered mail receives. Registered mail secures safety and protection rather than merely payment of damages.

Persons often insure domestic parcel post for less than its real value and thus run the risk of losing the difference between the value and the amount of insurance. Postmaster Zuehlke encourages insurance for full value up to $100 which is the limit of indemnity for one piece of mail.

The difference in fees is as follows: Insurance on fourth class, or domestic parcel post, is 3 cents on articles valued up to $5; 5 cents on articles up to $25; 10 cents on articles up to $50; 25 cents on articles up to $100. Registered first class mail carries a fee of 10 cents for an indemnity of less than $50, or 20 cents for indemnity between $50 and $100. The registry fee is 10 cents on second and third class mail.

Sealed fourth class mail, registered, has the same fees as first class mail.

ST. PAUL'S TO AID SEMINARY FUND

Means of raising money toward the fund of $700,000 which the Wisconsin synod desires for a new seminary at Waupun, will be discussed at the quarterly business meeting of St. Paul Lutheran church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. No appointment has been made to the Appleton churches, but the congregations here expect to do their share toward achieving this object.

The board of trustees will meet Friday evening to arrange the business matters for Sunday's session and to receive applications of new members.

DENNISON HEAD OF CHERRY CAMPS

Appleton Y. M. C. A. Man Is Picked To Superintend At Sturgeon Bay

J. E. Dennison, secretary of the boys division of the Y. M. C. A., has been selected as superintendent of the state cherry pickers' camps at Sturgeon Bay, the position held last year by A. C. Artman of Madison. He will have entire charge of the three camps of more than 800 pickers.

He attended a conference of state officers Monday at Milwaukee, at which preliminary arrangements were made for this season's camp which will open early in July and close early in August. The camps are conducted each year by the Wisconsin Y. M. C. A., which has been in charge ever since they were organized ten years ago.

APPLETON MEN GIVEN HIGH SCHOOL POSITIONS

Paul Vincent and Earl Watson, both former Appleton men, Lawrence graduates and members of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, have been elected to important school positions by the board of education at Stevens Point.

Mr. Vincent, who has been principal of the high school in that city for several years, has been elected superintendent of schools and Earl Watson has been elected principal of the high school to take Mr. Vincent's place. Mr. Watson taught at Stevens Point two years ago but has been teaching at Fall River. Mr. Vincent is a brother of Arthur Vincent who was high school coach last year here.

FOUR CARLOADS PIPE HERE FOR WATER MAINS

Four carloads of cast iron water pipe have recently been received by the Appleton water department. The shipment consists of two carloads or 47 tons of 12-inch pipe and two carloads or 47 tons of 6-inch pipe. The pipe is now being unloaded by means of the pipe derrick recently purchased by the department and deposited on the streets where new mains are to be installed. The shipment represents about 10 per cent of the total amount of pipe that will be necessary for the installation of mains thus far authorized.

NEW VALUATION IS GIVEN W. & N. ROAD

Latest government audits have increased materially the value of the properties of the former Wisconsin and Northern railroad, now the section of the Soo line between Neenah and Crandon by way of Appleton. The interstate commerce commission announces a tentative valuation on the properties of $325,552,053 as of June 30, 1915. A tentative valuation had been given the road of $1,857,112 as of June 30, 1917. The railroad was acquired by the Soo line about 18 months ago.

MAKE RESERVATIONS FOR ELKS' PARTY

Reservations for the stag party which will feature the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Elks in Appleton must be made with Charles A. Green before Friday night. Invitations have been sent to the Elks and reservation cards were enclosed. These cards are to be returned to Major Green. Tickets can be obtained from the steward at the club any time after reservations are made.

Committee members said it is possible that some Elks might have been missed when invitations were mailed and these Elks are asked to make their reservations by telephoning Major Green.

An elaborate program is being prepared for entertainment of the Elks. Addresses will be given by prominent members of the order. The hall and building will be elaborately decorated.

disappointed home-owners tell you to buy ARCOLA NOW

THE BUILDING BOOM started in 1921. That Fall, 5,000 home-owners who had ordered radiator warmth with ARCOLA were disappointed.

Why? Because they waited until Fall to place their orders.

This year three times as many homes are being built as in 1921. Yet no more ARCOLAS can be produced this year than in 1921 because our factories are already over-taxed with orders for larger IDEAL Boilers.

ARCOLA is radiator and boiler in one—different from any others. It is connected with a genuine American Radiator in each room. Warm bed-rooms! Breakfast in a warm dining room! Protection for the children from colds and grippe!

CHILD HEALTH WORK IN WISCONSIN

"Wisconsin's interest in the healthy development of her children cannot be justly called a sporadic outburst of enthusiasm, but contains the elements of permanence which assure a firm structure for the building of stronger physical bodies of the state's youth," according to Mary P. Morgan, R. N., Director of the Wisconsin bureau of Child Welfare and Public Health Nursing, in the March issue of "Mother and Child." The Wisconsin program which she describes embraces a comprehensive plan for promoting material hygiene for the rural sections of every county in the state.

County health centers have been established in some fifteen different communities where at least once a month expectant mothers may come for advice to guide them through the critical period of childbirth, or where mothers may bring their children of infant or pre-school age for a thorough physical examination. These health centers are conducted by a state physician and nurse with the assistance of the local welfare organizations of the county nurses.

These health centers are an innovation in the state, being a direct result of the state's acceptance of the terms of the Sheppard-Towner bill, among which is the establishment of a maternity and infant health program which carries with it federal funds for their support. The work is supervised by the state board of health. Four trained nurses (each assigned to four counties) do the field work and assist on each center day, this number being all the present funds permit. With larger financial support it is hoped that centers will be established in each of the 71 counties.

The bulwark of the health center system may justly be said to rest on the shoulders of the physician and county nurse, and the full success of the experiment is admitted by all to be dependent upon her activities and enthusiasm in the continuance of the good work.

The establishment of such health centers, especially in rural communities, seems to fit into the scheme outlined by the American Child Health association, recently formed by the amalgamation of the American Child Hygiene association and the Child Health organization of America under the leadership of Herbert Hoover, which aims to make it possible for every American child to be safe in birth, health, education and moral surroundings.

It also proposes to cooperate with government bureaus and private associations in bringing within the reach of every professional health worker, teacher, and ultimately every parent the essential technical knowledge. It will maintain a clearinghouse of information on all child health activities; will act as a broadcasting station of the latest and best scientific knowledge; will help in setting standards for child work on a sound basis, in eliminating waste in their application, and in so coordinating the work being done as to avoid all duplication and confusion.

CANADA BEING ANGLICIZED?

Census statistics as to the composition of the population of our friendly neighbor, Canada, are interesting. They indicate that the inhabitants of English descent comprise 28.96 per cent of the population, or approximately one-third and that the proportion of English origin increased 15.68 per cent in the past decade.

The Irish percentage of population of 12.60, and the Scotch 13.36. Citizens of British origin make up 55.10 per cent of the population. The French percentage is only a trifle less than the population. The French percentage is only a trifle less than the English being 27.91.

Do the statistics mean anything? Superficially, they signify that Canada is becoming more British, notwithstanding the Canadian government takes a more independent attitude toward England. Actually, they probably imply nothing more than is already known, which is that Canada is a member of the British commonwealth of nations, but is a national entity, composed mainly of persons of English, Irish, Scotch and French birth or descent.

DENATIONALIZE THE MERCHANT MARINE

Reading between the lines of the recommendations made to the United States shipping board by the committee representing the American Ship Owners' association is an invitation to the federal government to retire from the transportation business. If the American ship owners would seriously undertake to maintain an American merchant marine, this advice could not be condemned.

Neither could any citizen consistently criticize the suggestion that the principal vessels should be sold under such terms as would enable small as well as large private companies to be purchasers. As to the suggestion that sales should be made without restrictions, it is probably of but little direct importance, as it is questionable whether restrictions could be enforced after the properties changed hands.

There is no reason, however, why the Shipping board should scrap any vessel. The government should not take any unnecessary loss. If the better vessels are sold, why should not the inferior ships be sold?

The real danger is that we might not have an American merchant marine after the vessels were sold to private interests. The ships could be resold to foreign interests, and the American and commercial navy would pass out of existence. If a plan can be devised to enable American ship owners to operate the ships under the Stars and Stripes, private ownership would be preferable to governmental.

GERMANY AND ITS INDUSTRIALISTS

Herr Hugo Stinnes appealed to Judge Albert H. Gary and several American financiers to intervene in the Ruhr mix-up. It cannot be said, though it may be inferred, that Herr Stinnes thought that he represented Germany and that Judge Gary could give assurances for the United States government. Or, he may believe that backdoor diplomacy is more promising than frontdoor.

There is a natural, economic accord among industrialists, especially among those operating coal and ore mines, and iron furnaces. It is a sort of professional accord. Sure of his own power in Germany, Herr Stinnes felt, no doubt, that Judge Gary must be at least equally influential with American authority.

Judge Gary and the bankers promised Herr Stinnes, it is said, that they would help Germany if Germany would agree to pay a certain part of the reparations demanded. It will not be denied that the outlook in Germany and France is now brighter than it has been. We expect the German government to open secret negotiations with France.

TODAY'S POEM

By Berton Bralcy

THE CHARM

There's lots of things I love her for—her slenderness and grace,
The joy that dances in her eyes, the beauty of her face,
The lips that are so soft to kiss, the voice I like to hear,
She has a myriad witcheries that makes her sweet and dear.
But more, I think, than any other charm of hers I prize,
The little laughing wrinkles in the corners of her eyes.
They won me from the very first, they'll hold me to the last,
A happy, wholesome mirth with a lure that hounds me fast,
And by the gods of cheerfulness and gay, warm-hearted mirth,
I'll strive to bring her happiness for all that I am worth.
I'll try to keep, with all the skill a lover can devise,
Those little laughing wrinkles at the corners of her eyes.
Together we will laugh through life, bravely as we can,
We'll chuckle in the face of fate and grin at destiny,
Endeavoring to make the world perhaps a little bit more frolicsome and sunnier because we've lived in it.
And all of our posterity will have, so I surmise,
Those little laughing wrinkles in the corners of their eyes.

LET US SPRAY NOT OUR NEIGHBORS

The saddest part of all the pain and suffering and loss of time and expense and physical impairment and disability and mortality caused by the respiratory infections which all ignorant people and some wily ones call "colds," is that it is mostly preventable. But fortunately the delusion or superstition of "taking cold" is born and bred in nearly all of us, including those who become doctors or teachers of health; such a delusion or superstition weakens or nullifies every attempt to prevent the free and unreserved spread of these diseases. The respiratory infections are so frightfully common, being occurring in every household or every family every year if not every season, that any organized campaign of prevention is practically out of the question; therefore the efforts of the constituted health authorities are limited to enforcing certain regulations in such specific respiratory infections as diphtheria, cerebrospinal meningitis and whooping cough when cases are recognized, of course many cases are missed, unrecognized or deliberately concealed; such cases explain why it is almost impossible to stamp out the disease.

There are about a dozen respiratory infections, including the three just mentioned, which are specific, that is, the disease you catch when your neighbor sprays you is the disease your neighbor has, be it diphtheria, chicken pox or scarlet fever. And be it diphtheria, chicken pox or scarlet fever, it is not a "cold" at any rate are purely attributable to drafts, wet feet and the like, one is unlikely to take any great pains to avoid spreading the disease, for any such precaution would be useless if the trouble were not communicable.

Right here is where most of the health authorities err and err grievously in their public health teachings. They wabble and waver just enough to leave the impression that a few of these so-called "colds" are not infectious conditions at all; so when you and I pick up a respiratory infection we trump up some imaginary recent exposure or wetting or draft and count ourselves the exceptions—our illness is not of the infectious order; hence if we are able we keep about among folks. This is the reason public health instruction makes so little headway against the most prevalent of preventable diseases.

It is Utopian to look for any material improvement in the situation so long as the health authorities themselves are so far at sea in their notions of the causations of such diseases. The conscientious voluntary isolation of an occasional victim of coryza or other mild respiratory infection here and there can have no appreciable effect on the frightful prevalence of respiratory infections so long as the mass of people continue to spray their neighbors with all manner of such diseases without hindrance—nay, with the approval of the constituted health authorities. The people must protect themselves. No child or adult with anything purporting to be a "cold" should be permitted to associate intimately with other persons.

You say there is no such thing as catarrh. Then what is the disease so many suffer with in this climate (what climate, any climate) which causes sneezing, discharge from the nose, stoppage of the air passages, becoming chronic and causing deafness, sinus trouble any many other troubles?—S. M. A.

Answer—My best guess would be indoor-osis or chronic systematized delusions of exposure.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

Week's Events Briefly Told

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

That France will fail to overcome Germany's resistance to her Ruhr plan is a thing the Paris government isn't afraid of a bit, according to Gallic spokesmen.

It's acknowledged that the French aren't getting as much coal as before they entered the Ruhr. It isn't disputed that the invasion has been expensive. It's conceded that the government has had to overcome considerable opposition at home.

All that doesn't bother them, the French leaders say. They declare Germany has suffered so much more acutely than France that even now she's on the verge of yielding. When she does so, the French expect to get back all they put into the enterprise, and more too.

That is to say, that's what they expect, provided they're left to affect their own settlement with the Germans. What they fear is that somebody'll try to "but in."

At any rate, so the Paris press says.

The view expressed by the French newspapers is that their country bore the brunt of the war, won it, and then other countries that took part in the peace negotiations turned her out of a lot of the advantages she's have claimed if she'd made her own terms with Germany.

The press is fearful now, France having shouldered all the expense and trouble and taken all the risks of the Ruhr occupation, that outsiders will try again to prevent her from getting the full benefit of that, too.

This, some of the papers say quite frankly, is why the French are so suspicious of mediation. They have an idea the mediators will think more about their own interests than they will about France's.

They mention this as the main reason why a settlement's delayed.

Just as he was leaving the cabinet ex-Secretary of the Interior Fall charged that a conspiracy, including interests in every important country but this one, exists to gobble up the whole world's oil supply. Exhaust America's and then lay the United States under tribute for every gallon she has to have in future.

Now, only a few days later, comes England's announcement that her government was mistaken awhile ago when it declared everybody but Britons barred from looking for oil in Burma, which is supposed to be very rich in such deposits.

It seems England laid claim to a Burma monopoly under an arrangement said to have been made by Queen Victoria and Lord Salisbury in the days when he was her prime minister. But the latest statement is to the effect that the queen's and his lordship's signatures to the papers this claim was based on, "are found to be bogus. So if Americans want to hunt oil in Burma, they're welcome to, so far as England's concerned."

In some quarters there's a disposition to question whether this discovery would have been made but for Secretary Fall's accusation.

There are prospects of another oil controversy in Asiatic Turkey. In 1909 an American syndicate, headed by Colby M. Chester, a retired admiral, got a concession from the then sultan covering what's supposed to be a very rich oil district around Lake Van.

Before this syndicate got to work the war started. Nothing could be done while it lasted. Then the old imperial Turkish government was overthrown. The new regime repudiated a good many of the old one's acts, but the news comes now that the Angora council of ministers has decided the Chester concession is all right. The Turkish parliament seems likely to confirm.

The British thought they had an oil monopoly in Asiatic Turkey and they're almost certain to be more than disappointed if they learn they haven't. In this dispute with the British it's a good guess that Americans will take the Turkish side.

North Americans at the Pan American conference at Santiago, Chile, made a good start by opposing Uruguay's proposed league of American nations.

There wasn't a chance of the scheme's indorsement by the more important South American countries and before any of them except Chile had had time to say so, Chairman Fletcher of the North American group declared his country unfavorable to leagues, thus forestalling, at least on one ground, the frequently made South American complaint that the United States seeks to dominate the New World.

Pan American arms limitation looks difficult.

Chile wants reduction, Argentina the status quo, Brazil army and navy increases. These are the three big Latin American countries—the A. B. C. group. If they can't agree, the rest can't.

The United States, having loaned experts to build up Brazil's navy, isn't in a position to urge limitation.

For perhaps the most pungent criticism ever published of this country's methods in South America, the medal goes to Vice President H. C. Zwetech of the bond house of A. B. Leach & Co., who, just back from a tour of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay, Paraguay, Bolivia, Peru and Ecuador, gave out an interview in which, among other things, he said: "To South America the Yankee peril looms far more deadly than the Japanese ever did to California."

"South America never has had confidence in us, nor reason to have."

"We've tried to make South America into our pattern, not adapted ours to suit them."

"When our Federal Reserve bank rate was 6 per cent, England was loaning to South American merchants at 2 1/2."

"Instead of fostering South American militarism (a reference to the loan of United States naval experts to Brazil) it would pay us to help finance and industry."

"North American chambers of commerce in South America are mismanaged and inefficient."

"The English and Italians send their best men to South America; we haven't sent that kind."

"There are exceptions; firms which have seen good men and handled their business with sense have profited."

Do Men Who Pay Low Prices Expect High Quality?

We've wondered about this before.

Does the man who pays $18.50 expect the equivalent of a $30 suit?

The same buyer wouldn't expect cord tires at the price of fabrics—nor would he expect a store to lose money on any of his purchases.

Cheap clothes are all right if you are out for cheap clothes.

Here—we're always out of anything that won't stand up and fight for the man who paid his good money for the merchandise!

Q. How many Rotary clubs are there now? S. G.

A. There are 1,325 of these clubs. The membership is about 90,000 and embraces 27 countries.

Q. How is the date of Easter Sunday determined? E. S. A.

A. Easter Sunday is calculated by the moon, not the real moon of the heavens nor the moon of the astronomers, but an imaginary moon which is known as the paschal moon.

This is the full moon which happens upon or next after the 21st of March, the beginning of the Ecclesiastical year. If this moon should occur on Sunday, Easter Sunday is reckoned as the following Sunday.

Q. Is there any difference in the food value of brown and white eggs? J. D. M.

A. Chemists find no difference in food value. The fact remains that in some cities there is a demand for one, while some prefer the other. New York City and San Francisco prefer white eggs, while brown ones sell better in Boston.

Q. How much grass seed is used to seed golf courses? T. O'B.

A. It is estimated that golf clubs

ASSEMBLYMAN MILLER'S REPLY

TO WILLIAM ROHAN

Editor, Post-Crescent—Is not the implied friendship of The Post-Crescent more far fetched than that for the farmer and wage worker to get together?

To prove that Mr. Rohan is one of those sucker farmers whose thinking is done by such as the editor of the Post-Crescent, let Mr. Rohan tell us who the Farmer-Labor members of the legislature are. Will he tell us who are the members of the legislature that will have to justify their unfriendly attitude to the farmer? If he does not want to be personal, let him name the unfriendly acts to the farmer.

Let Mr. Rohan tell us who the radicals are and how they have smirched the name of Wisconsin. Mr. Rohan says, "Let us encourage the building of industries in this state which will employ labor, etc." Tell us who in the legislature is not working to that end. Tell whom you would like to kick out of Wisconsin.

To further show that Mr. Rohan had words put in his mouth which he does not understand, he does not offer a single remedy for raising the prices of farm products, and has not the ability to realize the difference between a statesman and a peanut politician and has accepted the peanut politician as a guide through which to expose his ignorance.

The idea of suggesting that the farmers are mostly employers of labor in face of the 1920 census, which shows that only about one third own their farms clear of mortgages and that they are losing their farms faster and faster, and from what he says may lose his own, is absurd.

Let me before advising others to join the Cheese Federation and Creamery Associations and the like, he had better show some disposition to boost these enterprises himself. What has he done to boost his home cooperative enterprises of this kind? He certainly was an easy mark for the Post-Crescent.

And now, Mr. Editor, are you the guilty party that is using Mr. Rohan as a sucker? If not, you are a party to it making bad matters worse, as quessing in his blundering misstatements and mistakes. In your editorials you quote his statement that most farmers are employers of labor, and you with the facts right before you on the contrary. You know that farmers have no power to set the prices on either what they sell or buy. You know that if prices of farm products go up or down it is not because of the power of the farmer.

Let me assure you, Mr. Editor, that there are men in this great country of ours who are dangerous to the perpetuity of our American institutions and no one is more guilty than you in your editorial in misleading your readers as you do in that editorial. We believe you know better and that it is you and not the farmer who are the danger to our part. It is true that the farmers are getting their eyes open more than ever before and you have less power to fool them.

A. M. Miller,

Madison, Wis., April 10, 1923.

A SCHOOL GIRLS SUCCESS Everything Depends upon her Health

Mrs. George E. Whitacre Tells of Her Daughter's Breakdown and How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Healthy, Happy, Strong Girl

Every mother possesses information of vital importance to her young daughter, and the responsibility for her future is largely in her hands.

When a school girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she suffers the consequences of wet feet, pain, headaches, fainting spells, loss of sleep and appetite, and is irregular, her mother should have a thought for her physical condition and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has proved a reliable aid to nature for just such conditions in so many cases.

This Mother Writes:

Mahoningtown, Pa. "I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was losing weight, was nervous, and when she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now she is a healthy, happy, hearty, strong girl and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her 'gym' work, and she works at home every night and morning, too. I am a mother who can certainly praise a mother who can certainly praise your medicine, and if it will be of any benefit you may use this letter as a reference." — Mrs. GEORGE E. WHITACRE, 621 W. Madison Avenue, Mahoningtown, Pa.

Every girl ought to be healthy and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to do well in school and to enjoy herself at other times.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for young women just entering womanhood. Mothers can depend upon it. It is prepared from roots and herbs, contains nothing harmful, and has great power to tone up and strengthen the system, so it will work in a healthy and normal manner.

For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been used by women of all ages, and these women know its great value. Let it help your daughter and yourself.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

LEGION IS READY TO PRESENT PLAY

Rehearsals Completed Tuesday Night—Expect Large Crowd

Kaukauna—The final rehearsal for the Legion show, "All Aboard," to be presented at the auditorium Wednesday and Thursday evenings was held Tuesday night. The show contains three acts with the plot centering about a courtship of Beatrice Sloan, who in real life is Miss Lillian Sager, and Billy Brady, played by Harold Perus. The theft of several sets of false teeth, among which are Mr. Brady's, creates considerable excitement and many laughable situations.

As a specialty between acts banjo solos will be played by Orville Creverie. In another specialty an "unknown" man will defy anyone in the crowd to lift him.

Reserved seat sale for "All Aboard" started Tuesday morning and seats for Wednesday evening's performance were taken quickly. It is expected the demand for seats on Thursday will increase considerably before Thursday afternoon.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

Kaukauna—A musical program under the direction of Mrs. Harold L. Donohue, chairman of the music committee, was given at the regular meeting of Kaukauna Woman's club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. D. Boyd. A paper on musical appreciation in children was given by Miss Florence Kohn, supervisor of music in the public schools. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. Donaldson Abt, Miss Florence O'Boyle and Miss VanAble. Laura Zwick gave a fairy dance. Howard Wendt rendered a saxophone solo. Readings were given by Miss Lucille Smith. A business session also was held at which matters pertaining to the routine of the club were taken up. About 30 women attended the meeting.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS GIRL SCOUT OPERETTA

Kaukauna—A large crowd attended the operetta "The Gobbins Fair" presented by St. Mary troop Girl Scouts Tuesday evening in St. Mary auditorium. The choruses and songs were well given. Clever costumes added to the atmosphere of the play. The production was under the direction of Miss Roberta Carson. Music between acts was furnished by the high school orchestra. Specialties, also between acts, consisted of songs by Catherine Meyer and a "Dance of the Lamp Shades" by Viona State and Luella Kaliche.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Founders Of Seymour Answered Need For Farming Center

(This is the fourth of a series of stories prepared by Post-Crescent correspondents concerning the early history of various sections of Outagamie-co.)

Seymour—Men who, were not afraid to venture far from the beaten path of civilization, and farmers who struggled to the top and have kept pace with modern agricultural development are the makers of the history of Seymour.

Lumbering once made the place busy, but not thrifty. It was necessary for the city to shake off the environment created by logging activity before its progress became that which has as its companion civic pride.

Today Seymour thrives because it is surrounded by prosperous farms. It is meeting almost every need which comes with the business of farming. It is the trading, marketing and meeting center for the people of a large surrounding territory. The Seymour fair, once considered by many a joke, now is an event anticipated all year around by people from all over Outagamie-co. and enjoying an attendance that runs into amazing figures.

RAIL AND BUS LINES
Seymour is about 20 miles north of Appleton and 17 miles west of Green Bay. It is served by the Green Bay & Western railroad and by motorbuses lines running from Appleton to Seymour, and from Seymour to Green Bay.

Dairy products, livestock, grain, hay, cabbage and sugar beets are marketed here extensively. The sugar beet industry is somewhat new but is gaining in acreage on the surrounding farms each year. Excellent farm buildings may be seen along the improved highways leading into the rural area and on the farms there are many purebred animals, cattle, horses, swine, chickens and other types that represent high market value and liberal farming profit.

Forty years ago there was much worthless swamp land, which since has been drained and now provides the best of crops.
Creameries or cheese factories are located at intervals averaging about two miles on the principal roads, and these have been one of the big factors in upbuilding Seymour, for these require a shipping point and a banking center.

MICH BUILDING
The amount of building that has been going on in the last ten years and the high grade of structures that is visible are marks of real progress here. Within that period an auditorium has been built and it is serving a worthy purpose in housing many of the community affairs. The Ford garage, Service garage, Seymour Motor Company garage, the Kahnt shoe store, Ulmermark hardware store, postoffice building, the bandstand in Legion-st., a blacksmith shop, a Consumers filling station and a fire garage are among the newer buildings that have given Seymour a real city appearance.

An added improvement a year ago was the laying of half a mile of concrete pavement on the main street of the city. This helped to make the business section attractive and more clean. More than 40 new homes have been built in the last five years.
Seymour's history dates back officially to the year 1867 when the township of that name was founded. It was named after Horatio Seymour, former governor of Wisconsin, who owned a large part of the land in the town.

FIRST SETTLERS
William and John Ausbourne, for whom the town of Osborn is supposed to have been named, were the first white settlers in the town. They came by boat up the Wolf and Shiobon rivers and Black creek, settling in 1857 at a point about two and a half miles north of Seymour. Ada M. Ausbourne was the first white child born in the town, her birth occurring March 31, 1860. The first death was that of William Ausbourne, Sr., father of William and John, which occurred July 2, 1859.

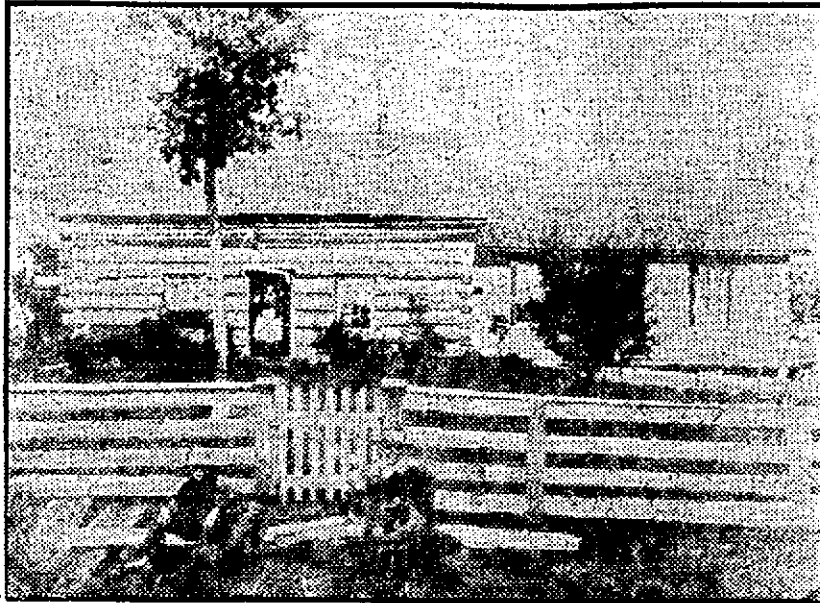

The first German settlers were Henry Becker and Herman Husman, who arrived in 1859. Events began to happen in more rapid succession about this time even to that of marriage. The first wedding was that of Henry Becker and Tina Simmich, the date of which was 1859.

Aided by Indians who cut down trees and brush to make a passage possible, Willis and Daniel Munger arrived from Oneida in the fall of 1859. The Munger home, pictured herewith, is the first home to be built in what is now the city of Seymour. It was typical of the log huts of those early days, which were more for shelter than for convenience.

Another group of settlers arrived in 1857, including E. C. Battles, James Rice, William Harris, George Anderson, P. M. Brooks, D. P. Larkin, A. Stevenson, John Brown, Leonard and Avery Carter, Albert Anderson, Joseph Winters, Fred Muehl and Peter Tubbs.

FOUNDED CITY
About this time the foundations of what later was the city of Seymour began to be laid, ending with incorporation on April 5, 1879. The first railroad did not come until 1872, but a village was formed on the town line of Seymour and Osborn. There was a postoffice, store, blacksmith shop, mill, school and churches.

The postoffice was known as Lime Rock, and was established in 1865. S. W. Munger was the first postmaster. 1870 the postoffice was started at the receiving a salary of $3 a year. In 1870 Seymour with Peter Tubbs as postmaster. Receipts for the first quarter averaged from 9 to 26 cents a week. There were two log houses in 1868 where the city now stands. Green Bay and Lake Pepin railroad was built and the station at Seymour established in 1872. The postoffice then was moved to the David Die store and here was made postmaster. This building still stands and is owned and used by Farmers Cooperative Exchange as a flour and feed store. It is on Main-st in the heart of the city.

INCORPORATE IN 1879
Organization of the city of Seymour was accomplished in 1879. The aldermanic plan of government was followed after the incorporation was approved by the state. August Volk, who died only a few weeks ago, was an alderman in the first council. He retired from the post after a few years and then served as city marshal for 28 years. He was retired on pension in 1920 and in that year he was again elected as alderman for three years. He died shortly before his term was to expire.

Earliest manufacturing industries of Seymour included the stove factory of Parkhurst and Hammel, built in 1870. The Northwestern Manufacturing company of Port Atkinson, also built a mill about this time, doing custom work and buying maple lumber for use in its other plants. A hub and spoke factory also was started about this time.

The plants, with the exception of the Northwestern factory, lasted only a few years and then were discontinued. Homes for the workers had been constructed at the least possible expense and were soon shabby, giving Seymour the appearance of most early lumbering towns. A majority of the people moved away with the mills when their location was changed. German settlers bought the farms, cleared the land and put up good buildings. From that time on there has been a steady growth in population and the houses and other places are built with the intention to help make Seymour attractive.

BUILDS MILL
George Anderson built the first sawmill in 1868, adding a shingle mill later. The mill did custom work for the settlers. Logging camps also were established in those days. Pine logs were floated down Black Creek each spring. Several dams were built along the course of the creek for power purposes.

The Konz Box & Lumber company's factory, employing about 25 men and making cheese boxes, is one of the thriving industries here at the present time. The city also has a canning factory.

Seymour Press, the city's weekly newspaper, made its first appearance July 8, 1886. H. J. VanVuren, editor, still is conducting the plant, which has been modernized in keeping with improvements in printing machinery. Mr. VanVuren expects to erect a large printing plant soon.

Banking history began in 1887 when William Michelstetter sold his share in a hardware business to his partner, G. H. Fourig, and built the Seymour state bank. He sold the institution to a stock company in 1903. The capital of $30,000 was increased to $60,000. Charles Prosser and Dr. James Hittner now are president and vice president, respectively, and have been on the board of directors since 1902.

ORGANIZED BANK
The First National bank was organized in December 1892 with $30,000 capital and this was increased in three years to $60,000. Directors on the board who have kept their offices since the start are Jacob Freund and Robert K. Kuehn.

Higher education was not neglected, for the first public high school was established in 1877 when a building was bought and remodeled and four teachers engaged. A 2-year course was established. This building was destroyed in 1903 by fire. The present high school took its place with a four-year course and eleven teachers.

A group of Congregationalists in the town of Osborn were responsible for establishment of the Congregational church here in 1872. In approximately the year 1883 the church was made into a parsonage and a new church was built. The parsonage was rebuilt in 1922 and modernized.
Zion Evangelical church was organized in 1870. A church was built in 1875 half a mile south of the present structure. A parsonage was erected on Main-st.
CHURCH BUILT
In 1878 the German Evangelical Lutheran church was built, and this was replaced with a handsome building in 1916, considered the best in Seymour. The Rev. P. H. Ohlbrage has been pastor for 26 years.
Town of Osborn was the original location of the Methodist church, organized in the year 1867. When the railroad was built the church was moved to Seymour. The present building was erected in 1896. The parsonage was remodeled and made up-to-date in 1922.

St. John Catholic church was built in 1873, a new building replacing it in 1900. A new rectory was constructed in 1910.

Seymour now has a chamber of commerce, Odd Fellow, Fraternal Reserve association, Equitable Fraternal union and Modern Woodman lodges and a Robert Krause post of the American Legion.

Robert Kuehn, who came here in 1892, has done much to advance the interests of the city. He made it a livestock marketing center through his buying and selling activities. New thousands of dollars worth of stock, hay, grain, potatoes and other produce are shipped here every week.

Seymour fair has been another big asset to the city. The first one was held in 1885. It was considered somewhat of a joke then but now is the envy of the state for attendance. George Falck, owner of Falck hotel, and John Steward, postmaster, were among the first trustees and directors of the fair, respectively.

WAR CHEST BOARD TO MEET APRIL 24

The executive committee of the War Chest Committee of Outagamie-co this week extended a call for a meeting of the entire committee at Hotel Appleton Tuesday noon, April 24. Reports will be made and changes in the articles and bylaws governing the committee will be suggested.

A meeting of the committee was called for Feb. 22, 1922, but the select storm on that date prevented all except five or six of the members from attending. No meeting had been held since that time.

The call for the meeting is signed by Gustave Keller, chairman, G. W. Jones, John L. Hettinger, T. A. Gallagher, F. W. Grogan and Paul V. Cary.

To Discuss Felts
The industrial forum of the Y. M. C. A. will hold its next meeting Thursday evening, April 12, at which time A. H. Thurer will lead a discussion on felts, their construction and relation to the paper industry. The meeting will be open to employees of all industrial plants.

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

SIR NORMAN GRAVES TALKS

He shook his head. "They were left by a former tenant," he replied. "I know nothing of their use."

I turned into the garage and wheeled out one of the rubber tires which were piled against the wall. "If you have no other car," I asked him, "how is it that all the tires in your garage are like this one—two sizes larger than those on the car you were driving?"

He hesitated and turned his head. He knew that it was the end. The gentleman was returning with a fat little man who wore no coat and waistcoat.

"This man keeps the café at the corner," the former announced. "He knows his neighbor Guy well." "Is this Monsieur Guy?" Demayel asked.

The inkkeeper was more than enthusiastic; he was voluble. "Upon my soul, no!" he declared. "Monsieur Guy I know well. This gentleman is a stranger."

Demayel turned to the pseudo Monsieur Guy.

"Well?"

The man shrugged his shoulders. "I have done what I was paid for," he said solemnly.

We dined that night, Birmingham and I, in a remote corner of a great bustling restaurant. Demayel had himself telephoned and ordered the table. The latter had promised to join us for coffee, but, before we reached that stage of our repast, we were surprised to see him coming hastily toward us, followed by a tall man of military bearing.

"Messieurs," he said as he sat for a moment at our table. "A grave thing has happened. The young man who has acted as my secretary for five years has absconded. It is he, without a doubt, who warned the man whom you call Michael. Worse than that, his report to me that the Carlson would not dock until tonight was a lie. She arrived this morning and landed her passengers this afternoon."

I half rose to my feet, but Demayel waved me back.

"Listen," he continued. "This much we know at present: The Englishwoman went first to the Hotel Splendide. At six o'clock this evening she was called for by the other woman, and they drove off alone. They were shadowed, fortunately, by Lund, the American detective, who followed Louise Martin over, and who reports that his life was attempted last night. This woman Martin, it seems, has an evil reputation. She has been in prison twice in her younger days in Paris, and she was tried for murder seven years ago. Lund reports that there is a blood between the two women. He is convinced that the Englishwoman, first, told us she called herself on the steamer, has been deceived into some place to meet Michael."

"How far did he follow them?" I asked. "Where is he now?"

"He followed them into the worst quarter of Marseilles," Demayel replied, "but as soon as he discovered their destination, he had the good sense to return for aid. They are in the one quarter of the city which I have not yet succeeded in clearing. But tonight the attempt shall be made."

"Let us start!" I exclaimed eagerly.

We moved toward the door. "I deeply regret," Demayel announced, "that this is an adventure on which I cannot accompany you. If I were to show myself in the quarter, I should not only endanger your lives, but I should of an absolute certainty forfeit my own. Monsieur Samuel here," he added, turning to his companion, "will take command of the expedition. Lund is in one of the cars outside. A different type of gentlemen have already penetrated secretly into the quarter. It remains only for me to wish you good fortune."

In the car which we found waiting for us, we passed from the broad thoroughfare of the city to a region of increasing squalor and ugliness.

We descended some small stone steps, passed along a narrow passage, and entered a dark, narrow alleyway.

Four other men seemed to have crept up to us like shadows, and we all had electric torches. At a certain point in the descent of some stone steps, we paused. Three of the men fell about for some time. Then an unexpected door slowly swung open, a deep which seemed to lead into a chasm, black and impenetrable. The man who had slipped past Samuel and become our guide stretched up his hand and pulled down a long, thin ladder. One by one we descended into what seemed to be a great cellar. At the further end was a kink of light from the room beyond, and a sound which for the moment made a madman of me—the sound of a woman crying. I stumbled across the uneven floor, but Samuel caught hold of my arm.

"Be careful," he muttered. "If our man is there and sees you, he will shoot. Let the others surround you. We have a plan."

I scarcely heard him, but I held my breath and kept silence while some one attempted to find means of ingress. Then suddenly, I heard Michael's voice. Cold and measured as ever, it seemed to me, though he must have known that he was in desperate straits.

"For the first time, Janet, the truth," he said. "What has become of the money which was handed over to you—the price of the jewels? And why have you followed me to Marseilles?"

"No one has given me any money," she replied. "I have earned my own living since we parted."

"Lend," Louise exclaimed. "Tell us why you came to Marseilles, and why Birmingham, the English detective, has followed. Tell us who called your new lover, Norman Graves, from Monte Carlo?"

Again there was a peal of derisive laughter from Louise Martin, followed by the soft ringing of an electric bell and a fierce oath from Michael. There was a moment's silence, the scurrying of feet, the flinging back of what sounded like a door. Michael's voice, when he spoke, had changed.

"You have had your chance, Janet," he said. "I shall leave you to Louise."

A fortunate madness seized me. I flung my whole weight against the door, and we fell into the place in a heap. Janet, her feet and arms tied with cord, white and numb with fear, was lying on the ground. Louise Martin, with the face of a fury, and eyes filled with hate, leaned over her. Michael, with unrecognizable face but unforgettable eyes, was already halfway through a trapdoor. He raised his arm simultaneously with mine. Our pistols spoke together, and the sound of their report was followed almost immediately by the crashing of the trapdoor. I felt a sharp pain in my shoulder, and for a moment I think I went mad. I was cutting the cords which bound Janet's hands and feet, talking to her foolishly, trying to keep back the faintness which threatened me. Then the mist came, and the room rocked.

My first visitor in the hospital six weeks later, was Monsieur Demayel. "That man's escape, Sir Norman," he confessed, "was a most honorable incident."

"How did he get away?" I inquired.

"He descended through the trapdoor from the room in which you found him," Monsieur Demayel explained, "by means of a rope ladder, to a narrow inlet of the harbor which at full tide is directly underneath. He secured the trapdoor behind him by means of a bolt, got into a petrol launch and apparently made his way across the bay. The launch was discovered next day, upon the beach, and there is a theory that he was washed overboard by a heavy sea."

"Louise Martin?" I asked.

"Safe for seven years," was the grim reply.

"And—the Englishwoman?"

Monsieur Demayel glanced suspiciously at the flowers by my bedside.

"She remained in Marseilles for some time. I do not know her present whereabouts."

As soon as my visitor had gone, I sent for the nurse.

"From whom did these flowers come?"

"Until you were out of danger," she told me, "a very beautiful English lady called every day. A week later she returned to England, but she left with the Sister an order on a florist for roses every day for a fortnight."

"She left no note or message?"

"Nothing."

"When can I leave for England?"

"In a fortnight, if you behave," she answered. "Perhaps never if you work yourself into a fever."

"Nurse," I asked, "have you ever been in love?"

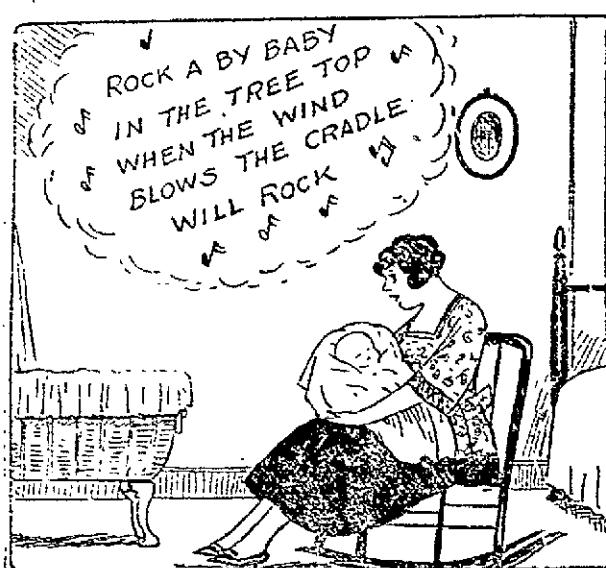

"It is not a fit question from a patient to his nurse," she replied, with a pleasant little gleam in her eyes.

"I need sympathy," I explained, "for if you will not talk to me, I shall go to sleep."

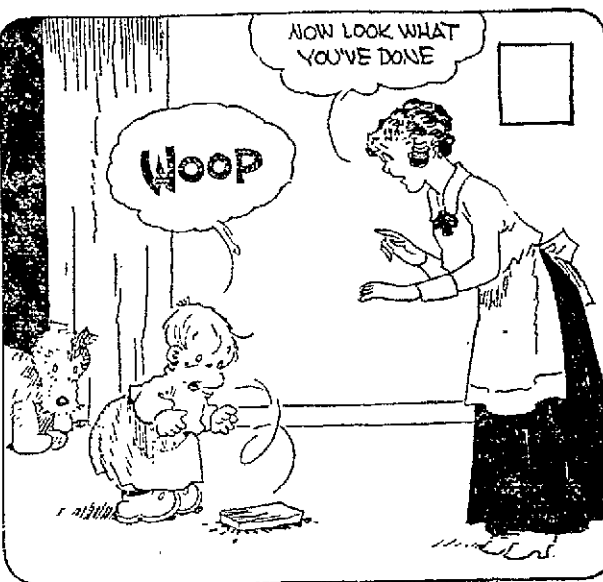

"The more you sleep," she declared, "the sooner you will be able to go to England."

"Michael's Wedding Gift," ninth story of this remarkable series, will begin in our next issue.

BLUE JAYS WIN WOMANS CLUB TITLE ON ARCADE ALLEYS

Three Games Of More Than 200 Feature First Night Of Tournament

Miss Mabel Sibley Stars With 232 Game—Miss Stoegbauer And Miss Roudoush Lead Race For All Events Honors

The Blue Jays copped the team title of the Arcade quintet of the Women's Club Bowling league with a score of 2,161 in the women's handicap tournament, which started Tuesday night on the Arcade floors. The win gives the Blue Jays shooters the championship trophy which is to be held jointly with the winner of the Women's club teams which roll on the Eagle alleys. The tourney on the Eagle floors will start next week Tuesday, according to an announcement made by Miss Sylvia Roudoush, chairman of bowling.

The tournament Tuesday night was marked with excitement, three of the howlers going way above the 200 mark in some of their games. Miss Mabel Sibley starred for the evening with a 232 game. Miss Mathilda Stoegbauer who was the highest for the evening with a total of 497 for three games, chalked up a 217 game. Mrs. A. E. Adell registered the first 200 game when she gathered the pins for a count of 214. A wide split in the eighth frame prevented a record marker.

Miss Stoegbauer's high total puts her first in line for the all events honors. Her average for the evening was 165 pins. Miss Stoegbauer is expected to be given a stiff race by Miss Roudoush, whose average for the year is the best. Miss Roudoush anchored up 491 pins for an average of 163 for the three tilts Tuesday.

The Nightingales with a score of 2,123 came out second in the team contest. The Nightingales shot the best natural score of the evening, which was 2,125. Their handicap was 3 pins, while the Blue Jays ran up 2,087 the handicap being 73 napsles. The Humming Birds finished third with 1,977; Canaries fourth with 1,866 and Robins fifth with 1,775.

Beginning at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon the players are scheduled to start wood smashing in the singles. This will be resumed again at 7:30 in the evening.

Doubles will start at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon and again at 7:30 in the evening.

Awards will be made by the club in all of the events. The two leagues, Canaries and Robins are hoped to finish their schedule next week.

Chicago-Tom Hickey, president of the American association said Wednesday that prospects never were brighter for a prosperous season. "Play ball" will be called a week from Wednesday.

Chicago-Willie Kamm, the White Sox 100,000 leatry, made another pit quit drive Tuesday, this combined with a reduction of $50 for every day's absence from the training camp. Eddie asked $16,000 and a three year contract.

The cubs went down before the Oklahoma City team the feature being seven runs by the Oklahoma City team in third period.

Cincinnati-Eddie Roush turned down $15,000 for the season made by August Herrmann with a proviso for a reduction of $50 for every day's absence from the training camp. Eddie asked $16,000 and a three year contract.

New York-Gossip from the baseball training camps is to the effect that the number of home runs in the major and minor leagues will again show an increase this year.

ONCE AGAIN LONE PIN BLOCKS PERFECT GAME

The best score rolled on the Alleys of the Aid Association for Lutherans club was chalked down Tuesday by Donald Van Roy when he topped 280 pins. Van Roy started out with a strike. He squared in the second frame with only one maple refusing to go down on the first ball. He finished the game with ten consecutive strikes.

YOUNGER BROTHER OF MAN O' WAR IS PROMISING COLT

Owner Refuses $125,000 For Messenger Who Already Has Won Races

BY JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT
New York—I've just been over to see Man o' War's younger brother. Messenger is his name and August Belmont, who sold Man o' War for $5,000, has refused an offer of $125,000 for Messenger.

In reality Man o' War's to blame. Belmont bred both horses, but when Man o' War was scarcely more than a frisky colt Sam D. Riddle came along and offered $5,000 for him. Belmont thought it a good offer and took it. Then Man o' War started breeding over the tracks, cleaned up $245,000 for his new master and became one of the famous race horses of history.

Belmont made no other show of his chagrin, but when Harry Whitney came along and offered $100,000 for Messenger Belmont refused the offer, and when someone later increased the offer to $125,000 Belmont still refused.

Is Messenger expected to excel the record of his distinguished elder brother?

HAS UNUSUAL DISPOSITION

Messenger has a gentle eye, a slim ankle, and his coat is the color of a rich coffee frappé. His disposition, however, is still a source of bewilderment to his trainer, Louis Feustel.

"Take the blinders off him," says Feustel, "and he'll lone along like an old cow. Put 'em on, and he'll race along for all he's worth."

Messenger, overhearing this flicked his tail lazily in the direction of his trainer.

This manner in which the hundred thousand dollar colt puts in his time is a matter of extreme solicitude to the stable boys at Belmont Park who are grooming him for the coming races.

GETS EVERY ATTENTION

At 5 o'clock Messenger is awakened gently and fed some very special crushed oats. At 9:30 he is saddled and bandaged and taken out for an hour's run on the track.

Clockers perched along the fence report that he has made thus far a quarter of a mile in 26 and a half mile in 57.

At 10:30 he is rubbed down and cooled and given fresh water to drink and at 11 he is fed. After dinner his legs are wrapped with cold water bandages. Toward evening he is taken out and walked while his stall is leveled and fresh hay (special cut California variety) is put in for the night.

Such is the daily schedule of the prized darling of the track.

Messenger's legs, slender and brown, are the principal source of worry to Louis Feustel.

In his first race at Saratoga last August Messenger distinguished himself by coming in third. In the second race he came in fifth. The third race he won, making the three-quarter mile run in 1:11 3/4.

Then Messenger kicked one of his own legs and went bad. All the month since have been spent in getting those slender brown members back into shape. If they do all goes as it should.

Well, Messenger has already been entered for the Belmont stakes, which happen to be the tidy little sum of $50,000. The Preukness stakes are a similar amount and with the generally large stakes put up at the three Kentucky races Messenger stands a fair chance of cleaning up at least $250,000 for his owner.

IS NOT FOR SALE

"Messenger is not for sale," says

Hear Sisler Is Cross Eyed As Result Of Flu

By Associated Press
St. Louis—George Sisler's eyes are the principal topic of conversation among local fans.

The uncertainty of his appearance on the field was emphasized Tuesday when an eye specialist who is treating Sisler said that "one can't say at present the exact date of Sisler's recovery," adding that the star's vision is normal in each eye, emphasizing the word "each."

The oculist refused to amplify the latter assertion. There has been an unverified report that the adjudged all-around best player in the American league is "cross eyed." Business Manager Bob Quinn of the Browns Tuesday without disclosing Sisler's exact trouble stated he understood the first baseman's affection was improving but that he was not expected to play for "three or four weeks."

Sisler's trouble is the result of an attack of influenza.

COMMITTEE TO TAKE UP INTERFACTORY BASEBALL

The executive committee of the Industrial Athletic association was to meet at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the office of George H. Packard, of the Appleton Woolen Mills, to take up the Interfactory Baseball League program. Mr. Packard is the chairman. Others who will meet with him are W. A. Holmes, vice president; Ewald Elias, secretary-treasurer and A. P. Jensen, Y. M. C. A. athletic director.

August Belmont. "My interest in him is not a gambler's interest for I never bet on the horses."

"But Messenger has every chance of making good. He was sired by Fair Play, who was also the sire of Man o' War. He shows all the physical qualifications of the champion. My hope is that he will become one of the famous race horses of America."

And Belmont ought to know. Besides Man o' War, he has bred Fair Play, Hourless, Friar Rock, Mad Hatter and other famous racers.

MENASHA SIGNS COTTON CATCHER

Neenah—Through the efforts of Menasha's speedy leadoff man, Rabbit Russell, who is at present in the south on a training trip, the Menasha club has signed one of the best semi-pro catchers in the south in the person of W. Catton.

The judgment of Russell has been found excellent in the past and the local management has firm belief that Catton must be a star to meet with his approval.

Dr. Delmore, who because of his personality and hitting was the premier catcher of the league last season, will play with Appleton and will be a tower of strength to them.

Both Russell and Catton will report April 15 as well as Manager Rush and it may be possible to have a good workout on that day.

Eddie Stump's Red Sox of Milwaukee have been signed for a game here April 19 and if the conditions are favorable some other attraction will be presented the 22nd, as it is the desire of the club to get in some good hard practice before the season opens here.

STATE INTEREST GAIN IS $20,000

By Associated Press
Madison—Solomon Levitan, state treasurer, has issued a statement saying that nearly $20,000 more in interest money was collected from depository banks in Wisconsin during the first three months of this year, than was collected during the same months in 1922.

"The funds of the state are loaned to about 650 banks in the state at an interest rate of three per cent," the statement said. "This money is left in these banks until needed to pay their bills of the state. During the first three months of this year the state collected $68,903.45 in interest, as compared with $49,333.47, for the first three months of last year.

"I have followed the policy of increasing the number of depositories in the state and of placing in them the state's money as rapidly as it comes into the treasury," Mr. Levitan declared. "The large increase in money received in the treasurer's office has resulted in the increase in the amount of interest in the first three months period."

HUGE TIRE SHIPMENT MADE BY PARCEL POST

The Gillette Rubber company of Eau Claire, which has many stockholders in Appleton, made a 4,000 pound parcel post shipment of tires to Portland Ore., last week. The order contained 20 cord tires which were sent by parcel post instead of express because of lower rates and better time. Several postoffice employees checked over the shipment and stamped it. The postage amounted to $501.

I SPIED TODAY

The "Queen of Sheba," showing at the Elite theatre this week is attracting great attention from theatregoers. It is called one of the finest pictures seen here in many months. Free tickets to this theatre can be obtained from the Appleton Post-Crescent by writing for the I Spied column. Report the interesting things you see and call for your ticket after you see the item printed.

BUT IT'S SO DANGEROUS

As I approached John street Saturday afternoon at 5:30 I noticed an auto standing near the bridge and three young men with ropes in their hands pulling from the back of the car. Just then the car started up and I soon discovered that the young men were on skis and the girls in the car were giving them a joy ride. Sunday morning I saw others enjoying the same sport over the slippery snow caused by Saturday's sleet storm.

Mrs. N. A. G.

MUCH TOO LARGE

While going down Pacific street Monday morning about 8:30 I saw a little girl about four years old who was on her way to school. She had such large rubbers on that every time she'd take a step she would step right out of the rubbers and she'd keep on going and the rubbers would stay behind. Then she'd stop to see if her rubbers were still on and they'd be half a block behind her. This happened several times and each time as soon as she'd get the rubbers on she'd step out of them. Finally she stopped and thought for a few minutes, then picked up the rubbers and went off carrying them.

I. K.

AND THIS IN APRIL

Tuesday afternoon I saw two heavy loads of household goods on the corner of Mendota and John. Streets where the snow has entirely disappeared.

One was a wagon and the other a sleigh. The horses attached to the sleigh were pulling from their efforts at pulling on the bare pavements, so the driver unhitched the team from the wagon and hitched it in front of the other team.

This gave them a start toward the snow-covered road in front of Russell street when the driver again hitched his team to his own load and proceeded on his way.

HITS BOY ON SLED

Saturday afternoon while walking up John street I spied a little boy coming down a side hill on a sled. A Ford sedan coming at the same moment collided with the sled, throwing the little boy for some distance. He lay in a little heap and screamed terribly. The driver of the Ford stopped as soon as possible, picked up the child and ran to the nearest house with him. Between sobs the little boy told him he lived in a house across the street, so the man carried him home. No bones were broken, however, the little boy being scared more than anything else it seemed.

KNOCKED HER DOWN

While returning from church Sunday morning I noticed a dog in front of a Chery-st store anxiously watching the door for someone who had gone into the store. The lady in front of me started to go into the store and had just opened the door and was about to enter when the dog bounded up the steps and ran in between her feet with such force that she collapsed in a heap on the steps. For a few moments she didn't know just what had happened to her.

TUMBLED INTO SLUSH

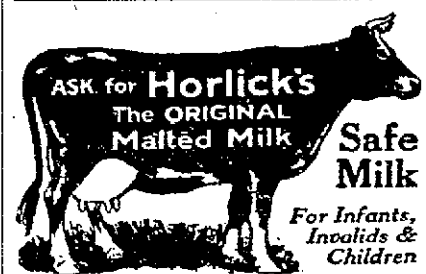

The fine weather last Sunday brought out many pedestrians and motorists, but both walks and streets became very slushy. The motorists seemed to have the best of it since they could rush along and splash the slush in all directions and everybody that came near enough. While walking along College ave at 3:20 P. M. however, I saw an auto standing at the curb near the Elm Tree bakery, when suddenly the auto door opened and a nice little girl about 3 or 4 years old, all dressed up in her best, came tumbling out and down into a big deep pool of dirty ice water. The child rolled over several times in the water, which almost covered her, before people seemed to realize what had actually happened. Finally a man stepped out of the auto, picked the child up out of her ice bath and placed her back into the auto and returned home.

LAMP with SHADE

Wrought Iron Bridge Lamps

Complete With Hand Painted Parchment Shade Six Feet of Cord

$2.98

WE FOUND A SPECIAL IN NEW YORK! Something the Big City Stores have been offering their customers. THE SEASON'S BIGGEST VALUE—a wrought iron bridge lamp, complete with shade, for only $2.98.

The price doesn't seem possible—but HERE IT IS—$2.98! Lamps of this style are suggested by artists and decorators all over the country. Tomorrow, Pettibone's offer Appleton people the opportunity usually found only in Great City Stores.

Genuine Wrought Iron Decorated in Black and Gold

The illustration is exact—the graceful shaft of wrought iron has a characteristic arm of wrought Florentine design. The feet, and the conventionalized tip, are beautifully gilded. The entire design has an artistic grace without being conspicuous.

Choice of Seven Designs Hand Painted Shades

These parchment shades are NOT PRINTED—but beautifully decorated BY HAND in colors. There are seven lovely designs to choose from. All colors are shown—including rose, soft blues, grey, mulberry, light and dark tans. The shades are exactly as illustrated. Each shade is finished with bindings of rich gold braid.

Adjustable Arm and Splendid Electrical Unit

The arm can be adjusted to any desired height by simply moving it up or down the shaft. No screws. Each lamp is fitted with a fine socket, six feet of silk-covered cord (artistic shade of brown) and a double plug. The quality is unquestionable. The electric fittings, alone, are worth very nearly the entire price of the lamp.

Designed by an Artist for the Modern Home

The design for these lamps was produced by a prominent New York artist. They were originally executed for an interior decorator. The lines were so pleasing—and the cost so very low—that a manufacturer secured the right to make the same lamp for high grade retail trade. Suitable for use beside desks, chairs, tables, pianos, couches, etc.
